

Sanitized - Approved For Release : CIA
 WASHINGTON POST AND TIMES HERALD
 JAN 12 1964

Post Book Luncheon to Hear

3 Authors

Scotsmen, spies and Senators will be topics of discussion Jan. 23 at a Book and Author Luncheon sponsored by The Washington Post.

The speakers will be John Kenneth Galbraith, economics professor and former Ambassador to India; Allen Dulles, former director of the Central Intelligence Agency and Ellen Proxmire, wife of the Democratic Senator from Wisconsin. All are authors of books just published or about to be published.

Tickets for the luncheon at 12:30 p.m. at the Statler Hilton, will cost $3.75. They may be purchased at The Washington Post's front counter, 1515

The Washington Post
City Life

B6

Sunday, Jan. 12, 1964

CPYRGHT

at the st. nw. or any of the book stores listed below.

Galbraith, a member of the Harvard University faculty, recently completed a book entitled "The Scotch," which traces economic practices among Scots. As a youth, Galbraith lived among the Scots of Canada's Ontario Province.

"The Scotch" will be published late next summer. Another Galbraith book, "Economic Development," also will be published this year as a paperback.

Allen Dulles is the author of "The Craft of Intelligence," a book based on his half century of experience as a diplomat, international lawyer and intelligence officer.

One of the men who helped organize the CIA after World War II, he became its director in 1953. He retired from Government in 1961.

Ellen Proxmire is the author of "One Foot in Washington," the story of what it is like to be a Senator's wife with one home in Wisconsin and another in the Capital. Her husband, William, was elected to the Senate in 1957 and since then she has balanced her time between the demands of political life and a family of five children.

A native of Pittsburgh, she grew up in Washington and went to the University of Richmond, where she was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. Later, she attended the University of Wisconsin, where she received an arts degree and became active in politics.

The following bookstores have luncheon tickets on sale:

Airport (Chevy Chase), Better Mouse Trap (Alexandria), Brentano's, Center (Bethesda), Cucumber (Bethesda), Doubleday, Francis Scott Key, Franz

CPYRGHT

Leaders, Books (Washington), Kann's (Washington and Virginia), Paul Pearlman's, Savile, Sidney Kramer's, Woodward & Lothrop (Washington) and World Affairs.

CPYRGHT